

This book was arranged to help your child learn to read. Point to the words as you read them. Because there are no pictures by the words, young children will be drawn to the large text. Turn the page, do the hand action, then point to the the picture and repeat the word written below it. Through repetition, children will learn to read all of the words in this book.

Poetry by Emilie Poulsson Illustrations by L.J. Bridgman Music by Cornelia C. Roeske Arranged by Tamsyn Spackman

<http://members.teaching-children-music.com>

Here's a
ball for baby,
big and soft
and round.

CRADLE

ball

cradle

Here is baby's hammer,

rock-a-
baby-by!

Here's
the baby's cradle,

oh how he can pound!

hammer

umbrella

Here is baby's
music,

Keep the baby dry!

Here's
a big umbrella-

clapping, clapping so!

Emilie Poulsson

ALL FOR DADDY

Cornelia C. Roeske

Here's a ball for Ba by, big and soft and round!
Here is Ba by's mu sic, Clap ping, clap ping so!
Here's the big um brel la Keeps the Ba by too! too! dry!

Here is Ba by's ham mer, O, how he can pound!
Here are Ba by's sol diers, Stand ing in a row!
Here's the Ba by's cra dle by Rock a ba by boot! by!

music

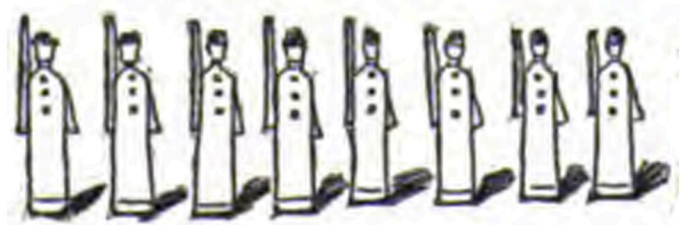

peep-a-boo

Here are baby's
soldiers,

plays at peep-a-boo!

Here's the way that baby

standing in a row.

soldiers

trumpet

Here is baby's
trumpet,

Toot-too-
toot!
too-too!